

THE WORLD IS FULL OF A NUMBER OF THINGS, AS THE PHOTOGRAPHER AND HIS CAMERA REVEAL

SEPTEMBER HEAT WAVE HARDEST, AS USUAL, ON DWELLERS IN TENEMENTS

Temperature that brought the mercury up around the 90 mark made life unbearable inside the hot brick walls of the poorer section of the city, and thousands sought doorstep and sidewalk, while the kids wore as near nothing as possible.

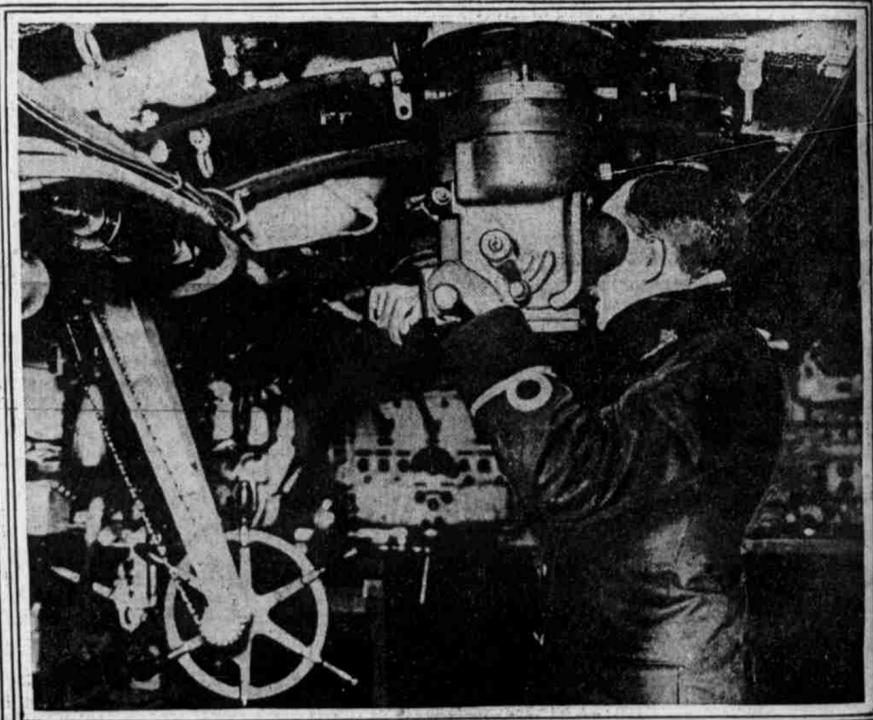

AUSTRIAN AMBASSADOR AS GUEST AT MAIN LINE HOME
Dr. Konstantin T. Dumba, whose recall has been asked for, is shown here at the left as he appeared a year ago when visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Rowland at Radnor. The Doctor made many friends in this city and vicinity.

OCEAN CITY SEES THE JITNEY BUS AND GOES IT ONE BETTER
"Six-for-a-nickel" is the slogan that goes with this roller chair—in other words, six blocks for five cents. The fair occupants of the car, left to right, are Misses Elizabeth Wolfe, of Pittsburgh, and Evelyn Brown, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Roy Atwell, of New York.

BIRD CAGE REPLACES THE WRIST WATCH
Fair strollers on Atlantic City's Boardwalk have startled the inhabitants with this fad. The bird inside may be alive or not.

HOW THE HORIZON IS SCANNED FROM A SUBMARINE'S INTERIOR
The picture reveals the commander of a British submersible at the lower end of the periscope which projects from the water above. At the left is the steering wheel. Here he watches and maneuvers before giving the order, "Fire!"
